HEWITT HOUSE

Havre de Grace, Md.

Built in the late 19th century, the Hewitt House is a two and a half story three bay by two bay frame house. The dwelling displays many seemingly unrelated decorative features that were popular at the time it was built, giving it a rather curious appearance. In particular note the clipped gable roofs over the dormer windows, the slightly pedimented enframements of the doors and windows and the shingled gables.

317 Fountain St., is a two and half story three bay wide L-shaped frame dwelling on a random rubble foundation. The house (c.1895) is located on Fountain St. and Strawberry Alley, facing south-one block from the Susquehanna River. It is covered with asbestos shingles and painted white with green trim. A one story addition joins the rear of the ell.

Windows in the north bay on the first and second story, west elevation are arranged in pairs with a wide muntin separating them. Two rectangular windows are in the shingled gable ends.

The main entrance is in the east bay, front elevation. The door contains four beaded panels with two lights at the top. It is held with in a slightly pedimented enframement. The entrance in the south bay, west elevation of the ell also has a slightly pedimented enframement. The door is half-paneled and half-glass and a two light transom is above it.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The Hewitt House, a three bay by two bay, two and a half story frame dwelling, built in the 1890's, displays a little of every kind of ornamentation popular at the time it was built (c. 1890's), and perhaps because of this, fits no particular style. The windows and doors have slightly pedimented enframements, the dormers have curious-looking clipped gables, the sides of the dormers and the attic gables are covered with decorative shingles, the chimney is corbeled and flares at the top and, finally, the porch has a plain shed roof supported by bracketed turned posts and a turned post balustrade. One of the few wooden picket fences left on Havre de Grace runs along the west side of the property; the property is well planted with a garden and grape arbour. Well maintained. It is situated on the corner of an alley.
